FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

Best and Biggest Celebration Ever Witnessed in Andover —Crowds Witness All Parts
of Program

Despite a sizzling hot day last Monday Andover's Fourth of July celebration surpassed any which the town has had for many years, both in the number of people who gathered to join in the various festivities and in the completeness and excellence of the program itself. From the touching off of the huge bonfire at midnight, through the horribles, sports, baseball and soccer games, to the band concert and dancing on the park in the evening, Andover to its last small pistol-waving youngster, saw them all.

The bonfire, which was touched off promptly at midnight, was the result of the hard work of Frank Goodwin and his assistants, who must have felt amply rewarded by the splendid turnout of the town. By the time the most spectacular part of the fire had died down, most of the crowd had left. But they were all back again at six o'clock to get a good look at the horribles. Through some misfortune the parade was held up until nearly seven, due to the non-appearance of the music. The "horribles" were certainly horrible, the "antiques" be-

CAMP ANDOVER

Reopens Third Season With Increased Personnel and Equipment. F. B. Withington Again in Charge.

Camp Andover has again opened on the shores of Ponds pond, and the first two weeks of the summer, which are given over to boys from 15 to 18, are rapidly drawing to a close. While only twenty-two boys are at present taking advantage of the camp's opportunities, Tuesday will see the arrival of between 60 to 70 younger boys, 12 to 15, who will spend the ensuing two weeks living the camper's life.

Considerable changes have been made in the camp equipment this year, chief of which are the addition of two "memorial bungalows," each built to accommodate 16 boys by the use of eight "double-decker" bunks. These bungalows have been built through the kindness of the Rev. Sidney Lovett, pastor

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Miss Eunice Lovejoy of the treasurer's office at Phillips Academy is enjoying a month's vacation.

Miss Emily Walker of Walnut avenue, spent the week-end with friends at Rye beach, N. H.

Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith of the Townsman office is having a week's respite from her duties.

The annual fishing trip by the employees of the Andover Press will be held tomorrow at Gloucester.

George T. Eaton and family of Bartlett street have left for their summer home at Pine Point, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Donald of Wolcott avenue spent the holidays at Maplehurst, Bethlehem, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Bradley of Andover, were guests at Hotel Mitchell, York beach, Me., last week-end.

Mrs. A. E. Torrey, Miss Rosa B. Torrey and Louis B. Torrey spent the holidays at Hotel Mitchell, York beach, Me.

Miss Martha Buttrick, of Wolcott avenue left for Camp Annawan, Meredith, N. H., where she will spend the summer.

Mrs. Thaxter Eaton is substituting at the Memorial Hall Library for Miss Edith Donald, who is enjoying her summer vacation.

Malcolm Lundgren, W. Gordon Coutts and Edward Weeks are at Camp Lawrence, Bear Island, Lake Winnepesaukee, for the summer.

Principal Alfred E. Stearns is at Camp Magalloway, First Connecticut Lakes, Pittsburg, N. H., for the summer, where he is conducting a camp for boys.

James Kinner, employed in the Rockport Market, sailed Saturday on the Cameronia from New York for a three months' visit to his former home in Arbroath, Scotland.

George Abbott, J. Everett Collins, Warren Hart and Carl M. Lindsay, former local members of Battery F, 102 F. A., attended the reunion of the 26th Division in Boston, Saturday night.

Rev. Warren D. Bigelow, who has been assisting at St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston, of late, will be the preacher in Christ Church on the Sundays in July. The summer choir of girls will sing, under the direction of Miss Ethel Humphreys.

Mrs. Mary J. Chadwick, 1765 Osgood street, North Andover, wife of J. Gilbert Chadwick, died Wednesday morning at 8.40, aged eighty-two years, two days. Funeral Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the deceased. Relatives and friends invited.

Miss Laura A. Juhlman of the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance office is attending the Christian Endeavor Convention in New York City this week. Miss Hazel Buck of Ballardvale, who is enjoying a two weeks' vacation from the Andover Press, is the delegate from the Andover Union to the convention.

The Margaret Slattery class outing will be held Saturday, July 16th, at Salem Willows. The interest is so great that the committee has decided to make the event open to men of the Free church. Tickets should be secured at once from Miss Grace Lake, as none will be sold after Wednesday night, July 13th.

Although the summer shows a falling off in the general circulation at the Memorial Hall library, only 3105 books having been given out during June, an unusually large number have been borrowed on the vacation extension privilege to be taken away for summer reading. At the Ballardvale branch 497 volumes were issued.

Rev. Fr. Thomas Kiley of Villanova college has been assigned to St. Augustine's parish to take the place of Rev. Fr. John A. Nugent, who is passing the summer in Europe. Fr. Kiley arrived in Andover last Friday and assumed his new duties at once. He was graduated at Villanova in 1909 and since that time has been acting as professor in Greek at the college.

Captain Arthur H. Cummings and Mrs. Cummings spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cummings of Highstreet. Captain Cummings received his captain's commission very recently after several very rapid promotions. Although only thirty-one years old, he is in command of a squadron of five destroyers stationed at Newport, R. I., for the summer.

Miss Catherine Barrett of Chestnut street who is spending the summer at Nahant, won six prizes at the athletic games held in Nahant, July 4th, under the auspices of the Nahant Post of the American Legion. She captured first prize in each of the following events for girls: Standing broad jump; running broad jump, 200-yard dash, 220-yard dash; second prize in the potato race and third prize in the sack race.

Miss Elizabeth Cole of New York City is spending several days at her home on Highland road. Miss Cole, in collaboration with Miss Helene V. Williams, recently wrote a pageant, "The Spirit of the Double-barred Cross," which was given at the Waldorf-Astoria ballroom before an audience of about fifteen hundred persons. The pageant was played in honor of the annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Leo Daley of Bartlett street has left for Long Lake Lodge, North Bridgeton, Maine, where he will spend the summer.

Women's Relief Corps Picnic

The Women's Relief Corps will hold their annual picnic, Saturday, July 16th, at Hampton beach. A truck will leave Andover Square at 9 a.m. for the trip, the return to be made at a time suitable to all. Tickets at $1.00 each may be secured from the committee: Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. B. Frank Hatch, Mrs. Edward Cole, Mrs. Fred Coles and Mrs. Leonard Saunders. Friends of members as well as members of the organization are assured a good time on the picnic.

Firemen Had off Day

July Fourth was an off day for the firemen as far as alarms were concerned, and only one call was made and that at midnight, July 3, when an auto of Mr. Arzonian of West Andover caught fire near the pumping station on Lowell street and was practically destroyed. The department answered with the new motor piece. No other alarm came in and it was a record for the Fourth.

New Auto Regulations

An act went into effect last Friday which provides that every motorcycle with a side car attached, must have, in addition to the light now required by law, another light attached to the front of the side car.

On August 8, a law will become effective which provides that all bicycles shall have front and rear lights when on the road one half hour after sunset.

A law will become effective on August 25, which provides that "every motor truck, trailer and commercial vehicle used solely as such, having a carrying capacity of three tons or over, in addition to the lights now required by law, shall display a green light attached to the extreme left of the front of such vehicle, so attached and adjusted as to indicate the extreme left lateral extension of the vehicle or load."

The laws were adopted at the last legislative sitting and are intended to reduce the number of accidents due to insufficient light.

Several Breaks Recently

Several breaks have been reported to Chief Smith recently. The camp of Joseph Pitman on Haggitt's Pond was entered sometime recently. Nothing was taken but the camp was considerably disturbed.

The Smith and Dove A. A. report that the lock on their locker house has been broken four times in the last few weeks and various baseball paraphernalia stolen. Chief Smith has a line on both cases.

Wants License Revoked

Chief Smith has written to State Registrar Goodwin recommending that the license and registration of Mike Battiatto, 29 Jackson street, Lawrence, be suspended. Battiatto figured in an accident in Elm square a week ago Saturday night, when he left his car with the engine running and the car backed through the Memorial hall library fence. Last Thursday he crashed into a pole in Shawsheen Village with a load of passengers, three of whom were injured.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Miss Iris Allen of Hanover, N. H., is visiting her aunt Mrs. W. A. Allen, 30 Chestnut street.

Timothy J. Sullivan of Washington avenue, is very seriously ill at the Barr sanatorium in Methuen.

Rev. and Mrs. M. W. Stackpole of Main street are at their summer home at Biddeford Pool, Me.

The Arlington mills nine will be the opponents of the K. of C. team on the local playstead Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Timothy J. O'Sullivan, Jr., of Philadelphia, Pa., is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. O'Sullivan, Washington avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Murray and Frank Burnett, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Davidson, Maple avenue, have returned to Chicopee Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. David Low of Cleveland, Ohio, are spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Low of Barnard street. They made the trip by auto and will return in the same manner.

Lawn Party

A joint lawn party, under the auspices of the Alpha chapter of the Alpha Phi Chi sorority and the Grenfell chapter of the X. B. K., will be held next Friday afternoon at the Free Church.

The affair will open at five P. M., and last into the evening. In addition to a fortune-teller and a White Elephant table, there will be ice cream, cake, candy, lemonade, and balloons on sale at tables on the lawn. There will be sports and races for boys and girls of all ages with first and second prizes awarded for each event.

Autos Crash

Wednesday afternoon a machine owned and operated by Henry Tammack of Merrimack, turned out to pass a car on the Reading road and collided with a Ford owned by Miss Caroline H. Shaw of 2 Arlington street, Boston. Although no one was hurt, the Shaw machine was considerably damaged.

Appealed Fine

Abe Bloom of 83 Atlantic Ave., Boston, who ran into Dr. Allen on Saturday, June 19th, on the Reading road and severely damaged the doctor's car, was tried in court Thursday by Judge Stone, charged with operating a vehicle to endanger the lives and safety of the public. Judge Stone fined the offender $100.00 and the case was appealed by the defendant's attorney.

THE TOWN FARM SALE

Communication from Mr. Wood and Sharp Criticism from a Prominent Citizen—Says Shawsheen Project Needs Mutual Cooperation to Succeed

Letter From Mr. Wood

July 2, 1921.

Dear Mr. Cole,

I am sailing tomorrow on the "Aquitania" to spend the summer in France and Germany studying business conditions, with my son Cornelius, and Thomas Bredbury, the agent of the Shawsheen Mills.

Some one anonymously sent me the last issue of the "Townsman" with your article marked, and I read the same with great interest. I felt the exceptions you made were well taken. As you in earlier days took this matter up personally with me, I was led to believe that you were the authoritative party who guided the Selectmen. It seems I must have been mistaken. I did expect that you would see me before the auction.

However it's all over now probably. What I can't understand is the attitude of the Selectmen in trying, it seems to me, to frame up a scheme to force me to pay the highest possible price, and making it impossible to come to the auction or be represented there. It was not a fair sale, and its method of conduct was not one that the citizens of Andover would approve of. I don't see where Andover profits by the sale.

If cut up into house lots and sold by the gentleman who bought the property, the town will be called upon to lay out streets, sewers, lights, etc. With streets costing on an average of $40,000 a mile more or less—and you certainly are an expert on the cost of street building—the $15,000 received from the sale contributes but a small part.

The object of the Poor Farm sale was one of economy. This cannot be realized without the sale of the whole property and buying for less money some other and more adaptable place farther remote from the Centre that can be operated for

A Citizen's View

Shawsheen Village, July 5, 1921.

Editor of the Townsman.

Dear Sir:

It is small wonder that you and other men in town who can see the great benefits which have already come to the town of Andover from the great improvements by William M. Wood at Shawsheen Village, have protested the sale of the Town Farm land at public auction a week ago for $15,000 and the sewer assessments. The Selectmen who had the matter in charge had inserted in the notice of the sale the clause that any and all bids could be rejected, but, as is reported on the best authority, they told the auctioneer that the land must bring $15,000 or there would be no sale—and there has been no denial as yet by the Selectmen—and this feature was entirely in violation of the conditions of the sale as advertised, and would seem to make it wholly illegal.

The valuation of the whole of the town land, 31 1-2 acres at the Town Farm, or Almshouse as it is listed by the Assessors in the annual town report of 1920, is set at $5,000. The land sold Saturday comprised 13 1-2 acres approximately, and of value to the town of Andover only for pasture or for the cultivation of crops. No other return came to the town treasury, for the land is not taxable.

This portion of the town land brought $15,000, and at the same rate the remaining 18 acres should bring $20,000, or a total of $35,000 for land valued at $5,000 by the Board of Assessors of the town.

Who brought about this tremendous increase in the value of the Almshouse land? How much would the 13 1-2 acres have brought the town at auction five years ago before William M. Wood

What! Carbon trouble?

"Gracious yes." You haven't heard of Fam-O then. "No! What is it?"

Fam-O is a liquid product put up in tin cans of convenient sizes. While Fam-O has unusual qualities in increasing power, its chemical properties are such that it is absolutely non-injurious to the tank, tubes, carburetor or motor. It will not pit the valves or rust the motor. It will keep tank and all tubes free from congesting substances and eliminate hard carbon, giving always a smooth running powerful motor. Fam-O also has qualities which aid in the lubrication of the engine.

HOW FAM-O IS USED—With the first trial of Fam-O we recommend a full 8 oz. can emptied into a full tank of gasoline. This is to thoroughly clean out tank, tubes, carburetor, and soften all carbon which has collected in the motor.

After the hardened carbon has been softened and blown out (done while operating motor in driving) we recommend 1 oz. of Fam-O to 5 gallons of gasoline. This is sufficient quantity to keep a motor smooth and powerful at all times. Its use in this proportion will, we guarantee, increase your mileage 25 per cent.

Vera Gordon is a living argument on the side of those who contend that in order to portray a thing or an emotion, an actor must have experienced it. Without taking either side of the argument, this fact is simply stated in order to bring it to the attention of people who champion this theory, and to present the case of Vera Gordon, who is starred in the Select Picture, "The Greatest Love," which will be the big feature attraction at the Colonial theatre Monday and Tuesday.

If the question were put to all who have seen Vera Gordon's work on stage or screen. "Of what do you think when you hear the name of Vera Gordon?" the answer would unanimously be, "A Mother." Anyone who has seen "The Gentle Wife," or "Humoresque" is sure to make that answer, for in each of them Miss Gordon played the part of a mother. And again in Lewis J. Selznick's Select Special, Miss Gordon portrays a maternal role.

And here is where the "must have lived it in real life" theorists come in. Vera Gordon is a mother. She has a son and daughter, as every one who has talked with her for even a few minutes knows. It is not that she boasts of her children, or "drags them" into the conversation. It is just that they are so much a part of her life that it is an impossibility for her not to tell about them.

GLOBE

The screen visualization of the immortal story by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," moves from the Tremont Temple to the popular Globe Theatre, Boston, next Monday to continue its remarkable run which has been the outstanding photoplay sensation in Boston of many seasons. It is a tremendous tribute to the photoplay's great drawing power that it continues to draw crowded houses at every performance and has outlasted all competitors since it was first shown in Boston.

The broad sweep and comprehensiveness of the picturing is one of its greatest attributes and places it among the three great pictures that the motion camera has produced. Of course, it has the story that has been appraised as the most powerfully dramatic story that this century has seen. Readers of the book enjoy with even magnified pleasure the visualization of the story and its characters which so intrigued them in reading.

Moreover, there is true perfection in the picturing, a perfection which embraces the acting, direction and reverent respect for the author's purpose. This in itself is a mighty achievement and goes far to reveal the reason for the photoplay's great popularity. The Globe Theatre has such a cool, airy auditorium that even on the warmest days there is a maximum of comfort attending the presence of the spectators. The showings are given twice daily at 2.00 and 8.00 p.m.

American Legion members in Pine-dale, Wyo., claim that their Phillips-Edwards Post is farthest from a railroad of any post in the United States. The distance from the nearest railway line is said to be 110 miles. There are thirty-five members in the Post, which represents a territory of five hundred square miles.

THE FOURTH CELEBRATION

yond doubt antiquated, and the local hits were all home runs. Wilbur Hammond, who paraded the streets of the town with the styles of 1925 on his back, and there isn't much to them, scored a decided hit all along the line.

The judges, F. L. Bingham, G. A. Christie, W. C. Crowley, P. F. Gilbert and C. W. Holland, awarded the prizes as follows: Antiques, 1st, Betsy Ross Flag float, $26; Ralph Manning, Ethel Manning, Charles Shattuck; Barouche, Relic of Old Andover Days, 2nd, $15; Bingville Fire Department, W. Gates T. Shipman, J. Bartlett, $10.

Horribles: 1st team with Alfred McKee, William McKee and Joseph Watson, $25; police headquarters, 2nd; F. Nelligan, J. Dyer, B. Higgins, H. Colbert, E. Downes, $15; motorcycle cop, 1922, 3rd, W. Sutcliffe, $10.

Best local hits: 1st, Police Department, "Chief and Jim"; A. Gibson and C. Smaller, $25; Fire Department, 2nd, S. T. Shattuck, J. H. Manning, A. T. Jackson, G. H. Manning, $15; 3rd, Selectmen and Sale of Town Farm Land, Malachi Lynch, Tim Madden, Robert Stack, Richard Stack.

The sports on the playstead at nine, again attracted a large crowd. Miss Louise Sullivan carried off the highest honors for the girls and Eddie Downes was on three winning Tye Rubber Company teams.

The judges were: G. Edgar Folk, W. C. Crowley, G. A. Christie and Thomas Dea, and Eric Hulme of the Legion.

The sports resulted as follows:
Marathon road race—Won by Arthur Comeau, $10; Arthur Swenson, 2nd $5 or value.

Five-a-side soccer, first round: Marland Mills beat Smith & Dove A. A. one goal to one corner; Andover post 8, American Legion beat Tye Rubber Co. 3 goals to one corner. Final won by Legion from Marland Mills, two goals to two corners.

The Legion team was: R. Deyermund, E. Downs, C. Skea, W. Lowe and W. Deyermund.

The other teams were: Marland Mills: D. MacDonald, J. Nicoll, W. Craik, R. Cargill, M. Lynch.

Smith & Dove A. A.—J. Deyermund, J. Low, C. Davies, N. Nicoll, G. Haddon, Tye Rubber Co.—J. Skea, A. Robb, P. Cairnie, P. Doherty, J. Henderson.

The baseball game in the afternoon between a team representing the K. of C. and the Smith & Dove A. A. developed into a real battle after the second inning, with Smith & Dove putting on the final touches for an 8 to 7 win in the ninth inning. Holland got away to a poor start in the first and was touched for 3 runs. Billy Dalton relieved him, and after the second inning little could be done with his delivery. It was an uphill fight for Smith & Dove from then on. Scoring three runs in the sixth and two more in the eighth raised hopes of a possible win in the ninth. Veit, who had pitched good ball to the sixth, had weakened considerably and after a pass to MacDonald and singles by Porter and

White, the stage was set for Harry Payne's Babe Ruth three-bagger which sailed through the trees in back of left field and brought in the winning runs. The score by innings:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 R H E
S. & D. 0 0 0 0 0 3 0 2 3—8 10 5
A. K. of C. 3 3 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—7 11 4

The teams:
Smith & Dove A. A.—Payne, If; Dimlich, ss; Porter, 3b; Dalton 2b, p; Partridge, c; Holland p; White, cf; Hyde, rf; M. Lynch, 2b; MacDonald, 1b.

K. of C.—Cussen, lf; Lund, ss; Harrison, c; F. Lynch, 3b; Trow, cf; Cronin, 2b; Dyer, rf; Bowman, 1b; Veit, p.

The day's activities closed with a band concert on the park by Millington's band of Lawrence, from 8 to 10 in the evening.

The program follows:
Semper Fidelis Sousa
Overture American Legion Air
Patrol Spirit of America
Patriotic Medley War Songs of the Boys in Blue

Reverie One Fleeting Hour
Descriptive Cavalry Charge
March Stars and Stripes Forever
Finale Star Spangled Banner

A section of the green was roped off to permit dancing. The committee in charge merits the praise which they received on every hand for their capable work in directing the day's program.

The committee were as follows: P. E. Wilson, general chairman; Alexander Gibson, Clarence Smalley, Geo. Killackey, Douglas Hutchison, Frank P. Markey, John P. S. Doherty.

Malden Boy Scout Camp

The Malden Boy Scouts opened their camp at Ponds pond recently and will be at the pond for the entire summer. They are located at the opposite end of the lake from Camp Andover. Two months ago Scout Executive Herbert L. Patrick of Malden saw the place a wilderness of low growth, almost impassable. Since that time, voluntary labor, fathers of the boys and interested members of the Botany club and Scout council of Malden, has cooperated to build a roomy log cabin with logs out on the land, clear the brush for a camp site, build tent floors, a diving raft and a hundred and one other necessities of an up-to-date camp.

At present only about 30 boys are at the camp, but by the end of the week Camp Director Patrick expects at least 30 more. The boys eat in the cabin and sleep in 6 army pyramidal tents, nine to a tent. The camp has been piped to the Andover water for convenience in cooking and washing.

The boys have a strenuous schedule from a 6.25 Reveille to a 9.15 Taps. Visitors are welcome on Saturday and Sundays. The daily program follows:

	A.M.
First call	6.15
Reveille	6.25
Assembly, dip, exercise	6.30
Breakfast	7.30
Camp sanitation and chores	8.00
Inspection	9.00

Rest (compulsory)	1.00

The other teams were: Marland Mills: D. MacDonald, J. Nicoll, W. Craik, R. Cargill, M. Lynch.

Smith & Dove A. A.—J. Deyermund, J. Low, C. Davies, N. Nicoll, G. Haddon, Tye Rubber Co.—J. Skea, A. Robb, P. Cairnie, P. Doherty, J. Henderson.

The baseball game in the afternoon between a team representing the K. of C. and the Smith & Dove A. A. developed into a real battle after the second inning, with Smith & Dove putting on the final touches for an 8 to 7 win in the ninth inning. Holland got away to a poor start in the first and was touched for 3 runs. Billy Dalton relieved him, and after the second inning little could be done with his delivery. It was an uphill fight for Smith & Dove from then on. Scoring three runs in the sixth and two more in the eighth raised hopes of a possible win in the ninth. Veit, who had pitched good ball to the sixth, had weakened considerably and after a pass to MacDonald and singles by Porter and

White, the stage was set for Harry Payne's Babe Ruth three-bagger which sailed through the trees in back of left field and brought in the winning runs. The score by innings:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 R H E
S. & D. 0 0 0 0 0 3 0 2 3—8 10 5
A. K. of C. 3 3 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—7 11 4

The teams:
Smith & Dove A. A.—Payne, If; Dimlich, ss; Porter, 3b; Dalton 2b, p; Partridge, c; Holland p; White, cf; Hyde, rf; M. Lynch, 2b; MacDonald, 1b.

K. of C.—Cussen, lf; Lund, ss; Harrison, c; F. Lynch, 3b; Trow, cf; Cronin, 2b; Dyer, rf; Bowman, 1b; Veit, p.

The day's activities closed with a band concert on the park by Millington's band of Lawrence, from 8 to 10 in the evening.

The program follows:
Semper Fidelis Sousa
Overture American Legion Air
Patrol Spirit of America
Patriotic Medley War Songs of the Boys in Blue

Reverie One Fleeting Hour
Descriptive Cavalry Charge
March Stars and Stripes Forever
Finale Star Spangled Banner

A section of the green was roped off to permit dancing. The committee in charge merits the praise which they received on every hand for their capable work in directing the day's program.

The committee were as follows: P. E. Wilson, general chairman; Alexander Gibson, Clarence Smalley, Geo. Killackey, Douglas Hutchison, Frank P. Markey, John P. S. Doherty.

Celebrate the Fourth

The celebration of our great national holiday was successfully carried out on the fourth. The bonfire at midnight was well attended and the people enjoyed watching the flames for a long time.

The baseball contest between the married and single men was an added bit of fun, the old timers standing up very well against their opponents, though they lost 6 to 3. The line-up was as follows:

Vera Gordon is a living argument on the side of those who contend that in order to portray a thing or an emotion, an actor must have experienced it. Without taking either side of the argument, this fact is simply stated in order to bring it to the attention of people who champion this theory, and to present the case of Vera Gordon, who is starred in the Select Picture, "The Greatest Love," which will be the big feature attraction at the Colonial theatre Monday and Tuesday.

If the question were put to all who have seen Vera Gordon's work on stage or screen, "Of what do you think when you hear the name of Vera Gordon?" the answer would unanimously be, "A Mother." Anyone who has seen "The Gentle Wife," or "Humoresque" is sure to make that answer, for in each of them Miss Gordon played the part of a mother. And again in Lewis J. Selznick's Select Special, Miss Gordon portrays a maternal role.

And here is where the "must have lived it in real life" theorists come in. Vera Gordon is a mother. She has a son and daughter, as every one who has talked with her for even a few minutes knows. It is not that she boasts of her children, or "drags them" into the conversation. It is just that they are so much a part of her life that it is an impossibility for her not to tell about them.

GLOBE

The screen visualization of the immortal story by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," moves from the Tremont Temple to the popular Globe Theatre, Boston, next Monday to continue its remarkable run which has been the outstanding photoplay sensation in Boston of many seasons. It is a tremendous tribute to the photoplay's great drawing power that it continues to draw crowded houses at every performance and has outlasted all competitors since it was first shown in Boston.

The broad sweep and comprehensiveness of the picturing is one of its greatest attributes and places it among the three great pictures that the motion camera has produced. Of course, it has the story that has been appraised as the most powerfully dramatic story that this century has seen. Readers of the book enjoy with even magnified pleasure the visualization of the story and its characters which so intrigued them in reading.

Moreover, there is true perfection in the picturing, a perfection which embraces the acting, direction and reverent respect for the author's purpose. This in itself is a mighty achievement and goes far to reveal the reason for the photoplay's great popularity. The Globe Theatre has such a cool, airy auditorium that, even on the warmest days there is a maximum of comfort attending the presence of the spectators. The showings are given twice daily at 2.00 and 8.00 p.m.

American Legion members in Pine-dale, Wyo., claim that their Phillips-Edwards Post is farthest from a railroad of any post in the United States. The distance from the nearest railway line is said to be 110 miles. There are thirty-five members in the Post, which represents a territory of five hundred square miles.

yond doubt antiquated, and the local hits were all home runs. Wilbur Hammond, who paraded the streets of the town with the styles of 1925 on his back, and there isn't much to them, scored a decided hit all along the line.

The judges, F. L. Bingham, G. A. Christie, W. C. Crowley, P. F. Gilbert and C. W. Holland, awarded the prizes as follows: Antiques, 1st, Betsy Ross Flag float, $26; Ralph Manning, Ethel Manning, Charles Shattuck; Barouche, Relic of Old Andover Days, 2nd, $15; Bingleville Fire Department, W. Gates T. Shipman, J. Bartlett, $10.

Horribles: 1st team with Alfred McKee, William McKee and Joseph Watson, $25; police headquarters, 2nd; F. Nelligan, J. Dyer, B. Higgins, H. Colbert, E. Downes, $15; motorcycle cop, 1922, 3rd, W. Sutcliffe, $10.

Best local hits: 1st, Police Department, "Chief and Jim"; A. Gibson and C. Smalley, $25; Fire Department, 2nd, S. T. Shattuck, J. H. Manning, A. T. Jackson, G. H. Manning, $15; 3rd, Selectmen and Sale of Town Farm Land, Malachi Lynch, Tim Madden, Robert Stack, Richard Stack.

The sports on the playstead at nine, again attracted a large crowd. Miss Louise Sullivan carried off the highest honors for the girls and Eddie Downs won on three winning Tyer Rubber Company teams.

The judges were: G. Edgar Folk, W. C. Crowley, G. A. Christie and Thomas Dea, and Eric Hulme of the Legion. The sports resulted as follows:

Marathon road race—Won by Arthur Comeau, $10; Arthur Swenson, 2nd $5 or value.

Greased pig—Caught by Alexander Ness.

Potato race—Won by Hiland Holt, Jr.; J. Colbert, 2nd; Jean McLeish, 3rd.

Fat men's race, 85 yards, Won by I. Kimball, $2.50.

Mile run—Won by John Comeau, $2.50.

Tug of war—Won by Clan Johnston from Tyer Rubber Co.; two straight pulls. Clan's team: Downs, T. Low, R. Low, J. Thompson, J. Auchterlonie, R. Cargill, coach, D. Robb.

Five-a-side soccer, first round: Marland Mills beat Smith & Dove A. A. one goal to one corner; Andover post 8, American Legion beat Tyer Rubber Co. 3 goals to one corner. Final won by Legion from Marland Mills, two goals to two corners.

The Legion team was: R. Deymond, E. Downs, C. Skea, W. Lowe and W. Deymond.

The other teams were:

Marland Mills: D. MacDonald, J. Nicoll, W. Craik, R. Cargill, M. Lynch.

Smith & Dove A. A.—J. Deymond, J. Low, C. Davies, N. Nicoll, G. Haddon, Tyer Rubber Co.—J. Skea, A. Robb, P. Cairnie, P. Doherty, J. Henderson.

The baseball game in the afternoon between a team representing the K. of C. and the Smith & Dove A. A. developed into a real battle after the second inning, with Smith & Dove putting on the final touches for an 8 to 7 win in the ninth inning. Holland got away to a poor start in the first and was touched for 3 runs. Billy Dalton relieved him, and after the second inning, little could be done with his delivery. It was an uphill fight for Smith & Dove from then on. Scoring three runs in the sixth and two more in the eighth raised hopes of a possible win in the ninth. Veit, who had pitched good ball to the sixth, had weakened considerably and after a pass to MacDonald and singles by Porter and White, the stage was set for Harry Payne's Babe Ruth three-bagger which sailed through the trees in back of left field and brought in the winning runs.

The score by innings:

Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 R H E

S. & D. 0 0 0 0 3 0 2 3—8 10 5

A. K. of C. 3 3 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—7 11 4

The teams:

Smith & Dove A. A.—Payne, If; Dimlich, ss; Porter, 3b; Dalton, 2b, p; Partridge, c; Holland p; White, cf; Hyde, rf; M. Lynch, 2b; MacDonald, 1b.

K. of C.—Cussen, If; Lund, ss; Harrison, c; F. Lynch, 3b; Trow, cf; Cronin, 2b; Dyer, rf; Bowman, 1b; Veit, p.

The day's activities closed with a band concert on the park by Millington's band of Lawrence, from 8 to 10 in the evening.

The program follows:

Semper Fidelis.....Soum

Overture.....American Legion Airs

March.....Spirit of America

Patriotic Medley.....War Songs of the Boys in Blue

Reverie.....One Fleeting Hour

Descriptive.....Cavalry Charge

March.....Stars and Stripes Forever

Finale.....Star Spangled Banner

A section of the green was roped off to permit dancing. The committee in charge merits the praise which they received on every hand for their capable work in directing the day's program.

The committee were as follows: P. E. Wilson, general chairman; Alexander Gibson, Clarence Smalley, Geo. Killackey, Douglas Hutcherson, Frank P. Markey, John P. S. Doherty.

Malden Boy Scout Camp

The Malden Boy Scouts opened their camp at Ponds pond recently and will be at the pond for the entire summer. They are located at the opposite end of the lake from Camp Andover. Two months ago Scout Executive Herbert L. Patrick of Malden saw the place a wilderness of low growth, almost impassable. Since that time, voluntary labor, fathers of the boys and interested members of the Bolany club and Scout council of Malden, has cooperated to build a roomy log cabin with logs cut on the land, clear the brush for a camp site, build tent floors, a diving raft and a hundred and one other necessities of an up-to-date camp.

At present only about 30 boys are at the camp, but by the end of the week Camp Director Patrick expects at least 30 more. The boys eat in the cabin and sleep in 6 army pyramidal tents, nine to a tent. The camp has been piped to the Andover water for convenience in cooking and washing.

The boys have a strenuous schedule from a 6.25 Reveille to a 9.15 Taps. Visitors are welcome on Saturday and Sundays. The daily program follows:

less money. The alteration and improvement of the present premises would not in my mind accomplish the object. It would cause the loss of the money spent on improvements, besides costing all it does now to run it. To my way of thinking it would not be a wise man's move.

However, if the sale recently made is a "bona fide" one, I shall not be interested in the balance of the property, nor in acquiring any more property in the village. I feel discouraged over the course the Selectmen have pursued toward my Company and myself. I have brought to Andover revenue producing properties, which must aid in the eventual reduction of the tax rate for the whole community. I have had strenuous overtures from the numerous towns where the properties of the Company are located, making most attractive inducements, but I reserved for Andover what they didn't even have to ask for, i.e., the favor of my Company. I feel pretty certain how friendly the people of our Town feel towards my efforts, and how inexplicable it must seem to them, the action of the Selectmen, whom I thoroughly believe do not represent the high standard of principle or the wishes of the electorate.

Yours truly,

WM. M. WOOD

Letters From China

January 9, 1921

This morning we went down to the American Board Mission church, where the congregation is almost entirely Chinese and the preacher is also. We went to practice listening to Chinese, as much as to worship, and you have no idea how thrilling it was to be able to catch a word now and then, and of course the congregation was most interesting.

As in America, religion appeals to the women more strongly than to the men; fully three quarters of the congregation were women, and it is very easy to compare the members, for the women sit on one side of the church and the men on the other side. Their attempts to heat the church are very feeble, and of course it makes no difference to the Chinese, for their clothes are so thickly padded, neither heat nor cold penetrates, but we take our steamers rugs and wrap ourselves up in them. It is rather inconvenient when you have to stand up, for hymns, etc.

I have been to a Chinese feast where we ate with chop sticks. We had only thirty-two courses. There were thirteen of us sat down to a round table. They brought in the food and placed it in the centre of the table, and we each helped ourselves with the chop sticks. We began with salted nuts and preserved fruits. The last course was soup fish and duck. Almost everything was wonderfully delicious. I liked the least, the one hundred years old eggs, served with hot wine. They were black, and the consistency of gelatine, and the flavor was mostly of sulphur. The shark's fins were excellent, so was the duck's liver and pigeon eggs. I did not care for the pig's skin soup with bamboo bit, but I ate so much of one thing and another that I felt as if I had eaten a Thanksgiving dinner, and I had expected to go home hungry.

Christmas week they had a tag day for the famine sufferers. They collected eight thousand dollars in Mexican money, among which was five thousand coppers and various other coins. It took ten men four days to count them. A very severe sand storm during the day prevented many from contributing to the fund.

February 6.

I wonder if it is my power to convey to you how much I enjoyed the trip to the Western Hills. Four of us went out in a truck, sitting on our luggage, boxes of coal, etc. When we had gone as far as the trucks could go, coolies carried the coal, etc., on their backs up the hill. We went off in the opposite direction to see an old temple on the top of another hill. Where we stopped was a broad, level plain. The roads were all below the level of the plain, often over ten feet below, worn to this level by the travel of the ages.

That gives you a little idea of the generations of men and camels that have plodded across this plain. When we had reached the top of the hill we could see for miles in every direction, stretches of brown earth, almost no trees, a good-sized river in the distance. Going back and forth across the plain were the camel trains, these huge brown beasts, casting a darker brown shadow on the brown earth; they are so majestic as they slowly wind their way along, they surely deserve their title, "Ships of the Desert."

Being a good way from our destination and the sun rapidly descending behind the hills, we went to the little village at the foot of the hill to inquire for donkeys. I wish you could have seen us, trailed by all the children in the village laughing and chatting. We finally bargained for our donkeys, beasts so small that my feet would almost touch the ground if I had left them out of the stirrups. With each donkey, we acquired a man or boy to talk Chinese and beat the donkey. They took us a distance of about four miles for thirty cents.

No one can tell you just how high these hills are, but judging from the hills I have seen in America, they quite deserve the dignity of the title of mountains. They rise abruptly from this flat level plain and the ascent is so steep, I got off my beast for fear I would be precipitated off backwards. But when we got to the cottage what a view was spread out before us!

In spite of the cold, we made up our beds on the porch, and it really seemed a pity to spend time sleeping, it was so beautiful, when the moon came up. When we woke in the night we could catch the sound of the tinkle of a camel's bell passing far, far below us; and then what a sunrise we witnessed! After breakfast we climbed up to the top of that range of hills. In spite of its being February, with a sharp air, the sun was as warm, and the sky as blue as a June day. The peace and beauty of it all was past describing. I am just waiting for an opportunity to get out there again.

We visited a temple where a Dr. Martin (someone who has written a great deal about China, but I do not seem to know anything about his books, do you?) used to spend his summers. It is known as the Temple of the Living Idol. The story is this: Three hundred years ago a priest of the temple used to go to this cave to say his prayers. One day he just stopped breathing, he did not die; but he was such a good man they stuffed out his body and then covered him up with a layer or two of gold leaf, and they have the best-looking idol I have seen.

At sunset, we wound our way down the mountain and across the plains to the railroad station and we came back to the train, the engine of which beaked in and carried no head-light. It was a dark night too and we carried our own little candle lanterns because the way was so dark.

I must tell you about the fire I went to see. It was the most spectacular fire I have ever seen. Mr. Bailey and I rode up to our gate on our way home from a dance when we spied the sky all ablaze, so I got into my rickshaw again and we tore over to the fire as fast as our two-legged horses could take us. I wish you could have seen them pumping water on a burning motor garage with gasoline explosions, etc., with a hand pump that threw a stream about the size of a lead pencil. The street lights of Peking are very dim and so every fire in a while some police would go marching through the crowd carrying huge paper lanterns on a stick. They even carried lanterns up on to the neighboring roof. Can you imagine what it would be like to be in a crowd of Chinese coolies, the reflection of the fire lighting to their faces and shining on their pigtail, and when the crowd got too near the fire, to be driven back by a lash who being snapped in the faces of the crowd.

Tuesday morning we went to the Lama temple to see the Devil's Dance which they have only once a year, just before the New Year. The religion was brought into China by the Mongols and it is a very primitive religion.

One of its characteristics is that they worship the ground, and so, never do a hole in it in which to bury their dead. The body they put in the back of a cart, and then drive furiously across the plains. They never look behind them, and where the body falls, there it lies until it is disposed of by wolves and vultures.

At the Devil's Dance they first had some kind of a service, then the head priest came out dressed in most gorgeously embroidered gowns. The first four priests had on large sable coats. They sat on cushions on the ground, also the musicians much bedecked. Then the youngest priests of all came out with horrible masks on who did some sort of interpretative dancing, sprinkling incense on the earth. I suppose they were purifying the place where the devils had walked. It was very interesting as a pageant. One can hardly believe that there are people who believe in it, as a religion, on the earth today. I will send you some pictures of it later.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have instituted a Sunday Night "At Home" when their friends are welcome to come in for a buffet supper and a little music. It was a very interesting group of people and we had a very pleasant evening—New Englanders, Virginians, Canadians, Westerners, Chinese and an Austrian doctor who was taken a Russian prisoner in 1914 and has been a sanitarium officer for the Russian prison camps ever since, until he reached home a month ago.

I wonder if in anything you have read, it has told you about the coaches which the wealthy people ride in. The coaches look like our hacks, only about one half as large and have a seat on back where a footman sits. When they want to go around a corner and through congested traffic, instead of the coachman guiding the horse around, this footman jumps down, runs ahead and leads the horse.

When we went to the ice-boat party, we saw the men acquiring fertilizer in a novel manner. They dug holes about one foot wide in the ice, then with a scoop woven of willow on the end of a long pole they scooped up black muck from the bottom of the canal. They deposited it on the ice where I suppose it would drain a bit and freeze into chunks, and thus be able to be moved easily to the land.

I have been into the Y. M. C. A. with Dr. Pendleton and the regular man in charge was not there, so a little chap came in to interpret for me. In the course of conversation I suggested he must have been to America to school. He replied that he had to to Springfield, Y. M. C. A., A. T. S., and roomed with Wesley Spencer. You may be sure we talked pretty fast.

One of the funniest sights I have seen was when I looked out one morning and saw a Chinaman walking on top of the city wall, brushing the snow off with a brush and holding one of those Chinese umbrellas over his head. There was not enough snow falling to need an umbrella, and just what harm he thought it would do to the wall was more than I could guess.

The weather is a very peculiar combination, for it will be very cold mornings and nights but during the middle of the day the sun is so bright that it is quite warm and when it snows all night, the snow is so fine there is only an inch or two on the ground in the morning.

Gross Ignorance

A Pittsburgh lawyer was conducting a case in court not long ago, and one of the witnesses, a burly negro, confessed that at the time of his arrest he was engaged in a crap game. Immediately the lawyer said, "Now, sir, I want you to tell the jury just how you deal craps."

"What's dat?" asked the witness, rolling his eyes.

"Address the jury, sir," thundered the lawyer, "and tell them just how you deal craps."

"Lemme outen heah!" cried the witness uneasily. "Fust thing I know this gem-man gwine to ask me how to drink a sandwich."—Boston Transcript.

ANNOUNCEMENT

OPENING TODAY

We would respectfully announce to the people of Andover that we have opened a store at 30 Park street with a fine line of Woolens which we will make into the latest styles of suits. We cordially invite the public to call and inspect our line as we guarantee to save you money by so-doing. We make a specialty of Police and Firemen's uniforms and also Chauffeur suits and riding habits for ladies and gentlemen.

You can furnish your own cloth which we will make into the latest fashions. Come and see us and we'll talk it over.

Respectfully,

H. HERMAN, 30 Park St.

Newbury Girl Wins Honors

The Bread Making contest of the Boys' and Girls' Home Economics Clubs has finished. This club was represented by many young people in Essex County. Most conspicuous of all the work done is that of Miss Helen Knight of Newbury. Helen has been a club member for three years. Her specialty has been bread making, at which she has become an expert.

Miss Dorothy Murdock, Assistant State Club Leader, visited Miss Knight's home a few days ago to inspect some samples of her baking. After applying the standard bread score to Miss Knight's exhibit, she pronounced the work as ninety-eight per cent perfect.

This is the highest score made by any girl in the Bread Clubs in Essex County. Miss Knight will receive as her reward for earning the county championship, a week's trip to the Boys' and Girls' Club Winners' Camp at the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

Miss Knight's cooking work has taken large proportions, when one considers that she is a High School student and was obliged to carry on her culinary work in spare time. Here is a total of the work she has done since December first, nineteen-twenty.

Forty-six bakings of Yeast Bread—two hundred seventy-five loaves.

Six cakes.

Three bakings of cookies.

Planned, cooked, and served sixteen meals.

The total number of hours of home work done was one hundred forty-three.

Beside these activities, Miss Knight has done millinery work, photography, butter-making, and chair-seat caning. She is acting as a Local Leader of a promising Canning Club in Newburyport. This work summed up makes a remarkable record for a girl of fifteen.

From Blunders to Discourtesy

In this column last week was published a copy of a letter forwarded to the Selectmen relative to the sale of the Town Farm property. Up to the writing of this article, Thursday evening, July 7, no answer has been received to that letter, not even an acknowledgment. Perhaps it is not necessary, but common courtesy would seem to suggest that the least the Selectmen could do would be to say that they received such a communication. The writer is going a bit further, and suggest that the Selectmen could very properly respond by giving such legal advice as they may have secured in connection with the sale of this property, and this is written, as was the letter to the Selectmen, with the utmost courtesy and respect, and from one who has been one of the strongest co-operators with them in every thing they have done since any one of them took upon himself the duties of public office. It is going to be pretty difficult to keep this same spirit of co-operation much longer if the blunders continue to multiply, chargeable to these particular gentlemen.

One of the unfortunate situations in connection with the sale of the Town Farm property is the absence of the chief factor in the development of Shawsheen Village, Mr. William M. Wood, who sailed on Tuesday for a vacation abroad. It is unfortunate because his friends are left without any real knowledge of how they can help in cleaning up the situation, if at all. There are many men in Andover who would join in calling for an injunction against the passing of this deed, but if nothing is to be gained by such a call, that is of interest to the man most directly concerned, one hesitates to be a party to such a movement. The report prevalent at the present time is that a re-sale has been made by the original "purchaser" at a handsome profit to himself, to a party who will not do any better development work than would the original purchaser. The whole situation is not a question of whether one or another man would do the best job, but entirely a question of having the property go into the hands of the natural agency for its development.

Communications are published in another part of the paper, one from Mr. Wood himself, and the other from a resident of Shawsheen Village, who believes in speaking out pretty plainly regarding the whole situation. We believe every sentiment expressed in both of these communications will be approved by the fair-minded, thinking people of Andover.

It is to be regretted that Mr. Wood did not assert his interest in this property and become its purchaser at the open sale. Undoubtedly the reason he did not was the attitude of the official representatives of the town in the whole proposition. The writer's regret regarding this phase of the situation is that anybody could have thought for a moment that he was a party to such stupid business as was worked out, as he would rather be called almost anything than stupid.

St. Augustine's Fair

The St. Augustine's Fair, which has had a very successful week, comes to a close tonight with the drawing of the prizes. While it was originally intended to hold the fair for only 3 days, it has been so successful that the committee decided to postpone the drawings and keep open an extra night.

Since the downpour of last week ruined the original decorations, everything was renewed before the opening on Tuesday evening and the tables re-decorated in a very attractive manner.

There has been a good business at all of the tables and the fancy articles at the Sacred Heart table found many customers. The fish pond and the Klondike were alluring to young and old and John Traynor at the children's table proved a splendid salesman or aluminum ware.

The A. O. H., the Knights of Columbus and the A. A. R. E. all had a fair share of the patronage and reported good sales.

There are many valuable articles offered for prizes and these will be awarded tonight. The committee in charge of the fair is Rev. Fr. Fogarty, chairman, Rev. Fr. Campbell, Frank McDonald, Patrick Barrett, Malachi Lynch, John Traynor, Miss Annie G. Donovan and Miss Mary McNulty.

Ramcats vs. X. B. K.

X. B. K. defeated the Ramcats on the playstead Tuesday evening by the score of 13 to 9. Cole, who pitched for the losers, weakened in the last two innings and allowed five runs. A. Fallon for the Ramcats, and Doyle for X. B. K. starred at bat with a home-run each.

Ramcats: c, G. Darby; p, Cole; 1b, Allicon; 2b, J. Fallon; ss, F. Cole; 3b, A. Fallon; lf, B. Sullivan; cf, T. Fallon; rf, T. Darby.

X. B. K.: p, Dyer; c, McIntyre; 1b, Wetterburg; 2b, Doyle; ss, Morrison; 3b, Hudson; lf, Stone; cf, Hammond; rf, Hibbert.

We believe the time has not yet passed when some men who are willing to set positively for the best interests of the town of Andover, as the Selectmen should do, might control this whole affair and even if it should cost the town some money to control it, the sentiment of the town would be back of an absolute refusal on the part of the Selectmen to carry out this sale, unless it is found that it can be rehandled in such a way as to have the property come under the ownership of Mr. Wood or the American Woolen Company.

Unfavorable to New England

The tariff bill does not look good to the manufacturer in New England, and that means to the people in New England. It is not surprising that in the balancing of the factors that go to make up any piece of national legislation, the bigger and more dominant sections of the country are able to secure larger consideration. True as this is, however, we may all wish that the adjustment of such situations would recognize the interdependence that all have, even upon the sections of less importance. If the time has come when in framing tariff legislation, we should cease to consider infant industries, but in place of such consideration determine the importance of long existing but slowly lessening sections of the country, then let us put our whole plea upon that ground; and what a wonderful plea New England has! True as it is that the growth of some of the industries which have made New England famous has been retarded in other sections of the country in the last ten years than it has in New England, New England is still dominant in its production of textiles, boots and shoes and many other important products of skilled labor, where such dominance does vastly more for the nation as a whole than even it does for the prosperity of New England itself.

Congress must be made to see this situation. It is not enough to go down there and say that the particular type of material produced in some particular mill needs particular consideration. The case should go up before Congress as a relation of that particular situation to the whole claim that New England has for national recognition. We can ill afford to further disrupt the industrial organization of this section of the country. We are probably more prosperous because textile are prosperous than many other sections of the country, and the general public will have difficulty in understanding the New England plea at this particular time on account of the temporary prosperity. Tariff legislation is to be framed for some time to come. It must be framed so that the great army of workers, skilled, well paid, home loving, home creating, we developed citizenship will be considered fairly so that present relations may be maintained, not for the benefit of New England, but for the service that New England can render to the nation at large.

Wellesley Penders Account

Andover people have been so kind in their interest and response while the small group of Wellesley graduates have been working to reach their quota of $5,000 toward raising the $2,700,000 endowment fund which was for Wellesley College, completed June 21st, that we think the townspeople who read the Townsman might like to know how that $5,000 was raised. First of all before other effort was made the graduates and former students through Mrs. Frank Carlton as canvasser, pledged $2,060.00. Then through the activities carried on, the following sums were raised: Card Party, Miss Bertha Bailey, chairman, $332.35; Rummage Sale, Mrs. Horace M. Poynter, chairman, $509.59; Movie, Mrs. E. Victor Bigelow, chairman, $232.41; Rooms rented over Abbot Commencement, Mrs. Frank Carlton, chairman, $215; Individual efforts, $80.50; making a total of $1369.85. Last, and with a kindness we shall never forget, Andover friends gave $1335.20, making a grand total of $5701.05. THANK YOU!

Dance Pavilion for Shawsheen

The contract has just been let to the Turner Construction Co. for the building of a large open-air dance pavilion in Shawsheen Village to be erected on the strip of land between the river and the road south of the Balmoral Spa. The floor will be of concrete, rubbed down, finished and coated to make a smooth dancing surface.

Town Land Resold

The town farm land which was sold at auction a week ago Saturday to Dan Barberian for $15,000 and sewer assessments, was resold last Tuesday to George Duffon of Burnham Road. It is understood that the land was sold at a considerable increase over the price paid for it at the auction. Mr. Duffon has done considerable house building along High street and in Lawrence during the last few years.

"Uncle Sammy"

Last Tuesday evening on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Valentine a very successful entertainment was held by the Abbott Village Girls' Club. It was a musical playlet entitled "Uncle Sammy" and appropriate to the recent legislation in Congress, dealt with the foreign folks who come here and the making of them into Americans.

Miss Annie Ness took the part of Uncle Sam and in the popular costume of that gentleman she advised or instructed the "foreigners" who danced their national dances, dressed in the costumes of the countries they represented.

About eighty neighbors and friends made the audience and all were very well pleased with the show as a whole and the individual exhibitions of the children.

William Valentine wrote the lines and directed. He was assisted in the orchestra by Helen Hackney, Hazel Valentine, Helen Brown and Helen Bickell.

The program:
Song: I Never Knew. Helen Brown
Dance: Irish Jig. Evelyn Fettes Dance: Hawaiian. Minnie Valentine
Reading: Honest Deacon. Annie Ness
Dance: Maypolka. May Valentine
Dance: Highland Fling. Annetta Anderson

The lawn was prettily decorated with ferns, flags and bunting.
At the conclusion of the entertainment ice cream, tonic and candy were served the girls by Mrs. John Ness.

Interesting Issue

The Essex Institute Historical Collections for July, just issued, contains as usual articles of especial interest to students of Essex County history and genealogy. The leading article is a memoir of James Andrew Gillis, Esq., by the distinguished Salem attorney, by Hon. Robert S. Antoul, who, in his nineteenth year, was the nephew of the Essex Bar; a portrait of Francis B. C. Bradlee contributes "The Kearsarge-Alabama Battle," the story as told to him by James Magee of Marblehead, seaman of the "Kearsarge," together with an English version of the famous fight; the illustrations are from the author's private collection, and include Walter's painting of the "Alabama," a picture of the Battle, and other valuable views from negatives made in France the day after the fight, portraits of Captains Winslow and Semmes, etc. In "Salem Vessels and Their Voyages," George Granville Putnam continues his detailed, interesting account of the Sumatra trade, giving valuable information concerning Salem vessels and masters of the early nineteenth century; this article is profusely illustrated with portraits of Captains Nathaniel Silsbee, William Story, Samuel Rea, Holten J. Breed, John Endicott, William Osgood, Edward West, and pictures of the ships Franklin, Francis, Union, indenture of the ship Franklin, Samuel Tucker, master, etc. "The Burnap-Burnett Genealogy" is continued by Henry Wyckoff Belknap, illustrated with full-page plans of Salem Commons, 1722, and Reading land, 1708, by Joseph Burnap, surveyor. Other articles are "Letter from Capt. Joseph Waters concerning the Frigate Essex," "Bradford Church Records, admissions and dismissals," and "Boxford Tax Lists, 1711-1714," communicated by Sidney Perley.

Chase-Chace Family Reunion

The twenty-second annual meeting of the Chase-Chace Family association will be held Saturday, in the historic old city of Salem, Mass., and those who have never been so fortunate as to visit this quaint city of the Puritans may find their many points of great great historical interest. A large attendance is expected.

The meeting will be held at the Essex Historical Institute with social hour at 10 a. m., and business meeting at 11 o'clock, daylight-saving time. A very interesting program has been arranged with Rev. L. H. Murlin, D. D., president of Boston university, as the principal speaker.

The Essex Institute is located on Essex street, about three or four minutes walk from the depot, and a visit to this wonderful museum will be worth the trip to Salem. A most excellent dinner will be served at 1 o'clock at the famous old Essex hotel, a few doors from the Essex Institute.

The committee of arrangements includes Alfred L. Chase of Waltham, president; Omar P. Chase of this town, former president and one of the founders of the association, and James F. Chase of Boston, secretary.

Motor Pump Overhauled

The triple motor combination pump of the local fire department is again in commission and at the monthly practice of the department Wednesday night, the trial showed the piece of apparatus to be in perfect condition and throwing more water than ever before.

The pump, an American La France, was purchased by the town seven years ago and until last month nothing had been done to it. It has had many hard tests at a number of fires, and at the Archibald Wheel Co. fire came through a 15 hours' test with splendid results. The work of overhauling the pump and putting in new parts was done by the permanent men of the Central fire station under the direction of Fire Chief Emerson, who deserve credit for their work.

Wouldn't a Vacation from the Washtub be Welcome?

It is Monday morning—washday. The thermometer bubbles at blood heat, scarce a breath of air is stirring. The steam rises from the tubs, hot—almost scorching hot.

Heat and labor make you wilt and crumble. Wouldn't a vacation from this ordeal of the wash tub be welcome this season, at least while summer weather is at its fiercest?

Try it. You will be rewarded with better health and freedom for pleasanter duties.

While you are resting, we can do your family washing—using soft water and creamy suds that will leave your garments and household linen as dainty and sweet-smelling as you could wish.

Phone us and we will tide you over these warm-weather days by sending our routeman for your family bundle.

Shawheen Village Celebration

Shawheen village had a celebration of its own Monday night with a band concert, bonfire and dance. The affair drew thousands from town and from Lawrence and hundreds of autos were parked in the village. The concert was given by the American Woolen Co.'s band on the piazza of the home of Philip B. Blades on Burnham road and under the direction of Henri Bernard, leader, played the following concert program in an excellent manner:

March: Washington Grays
Overture: Post and Prentiss
Popular Song: Peggy O'Neil
March: Festal Day
Fox Trot: I Never Knew
Overture: Comedy (Lutspiel)
March: Solid Men to the Front
Fox Trot: Bright Eyes
Waltz: Beautiful Annabelle Lee
Valse: Boston
Overture: American Legion
Star Spangled Banner

The bonfire, which was fully as large as the one on the Andover playstead, was lighted at 9 o'clock and hundreds of autoists stopped to watch the blaze. The fire burned for hours and there were many inquiries from people out of town who thought there was a big conflagration. It took the better part of a week to build it and it was in charge of Joe Levi, assisted by W. Schultz, Joe Traynor, Raymond Mura, Joe Prendergast, Lewis Pomerleau, Alec Audit, Jerry Myers and J. Moran.

Following the concert, dancing was enjoyed in the Balmoral Spa till midnight, music being provided by the American Woolen Co. orchestra. The committee in charge of the celebration was G. H. Winslow, James R. Mosher and Philip B. Blades.

Banish the Filthy Fly

The Massachusetts Tuberculosis League through its affiliated organizations has inaugurated an intensive campaign for the control of the fly, as an adjunct to the Massachusetts Clean-Up Campaign. There is little which is new to be said about the fly as a carrier of the diseases which are a menace to health during the summer months. What is needed is stimulation to action on the part of every good citizen and wide-awake boy and girl in the Commonwealth. There is no doubt that the fly, capable of carrying at least six million germs on his six hairy feet, breeding in manure heaps, privy vaults, garbage cans and spittoons of the sick, does more to spread disease during the summer months than any other one agency.

It was recognized during the war by the United States Public Health Service that the control of the fly was absolutely necessary to the prevention of typhoid fever. Working on this theory, the American troops in the last great war did not suffer from the ravages of typhoid fever as did the troops in the Spanish-American War. What is good health protection for the army is good health protection for civilians. With the co-operation of health authorities, clean-up campaigns committees, and organizations which are interested in promoting better health for Massachusetts, the fly menace can be greatly lessened this summer in Massachusetts and the health of the people correspondingly protected.

The Massachusetts Tuberculosis League has issued a flier for general distribution which has been approved by the State Department of Public Health and which gives the following advice:

"Prevent his breeding! Keep manure, when near human habitation, in an absolutely tight and dark pit, on Andernach, on the Rhine, Germany, where the Boer maidens are the prettiest, once the heart of a thriving Iron Cross market, is the second to hold in the German Empire to be occupied by the American Legion. The new post is Andernach Post No. 5. Andernach was headquarters of the Third Division in Third Army days, and now quarters like S. cond Brigade of the American army of Occupation. Amaroc Post No. 4 of the Legion is situated in Coblenz.

screens with water underneath changed weekly, or cart away the manure every week to prevent insect breeding. Keep yards clean. Keep privy vaults absolutely tight and dark. Keep garbage covered tight and pails clean. Cleanliness will starve the fly out.

"Chase him! Buy a fly swatter now and use it. Buy or make a fly trap. Keep all foods screened. Be sure the screens on your house are tight. Keep the fly away from the sick room and from everything which comes from the sick. Do your best to keep yourself, your family, your town, and Massachusetts healthy."

CAMP ANDOVER ACTIVITIES

of the Mt. Vernon church; one, the Rebecca Mills bungalow, in memory of Mr. Lovett's wife, and the other, the James Fenimore Cooper Jr. bungalow, in memory of a classmate of Mr. Lovett's at Yale who was killed in the World War.

Several tents have been added to the last year's supply, making a total of 13, which with the two bungalows enables the camp to accommodate 84 people, in addition to the permanent councilors. To take care of this added capacity a left wing has been built on to the lodge, with the promise of a corresponding addition of a wing on the opposite side next year. The camp now has five boats and a new diving raft to take care of water sports, and for the accommodation of visitors who wish to take a plunge, has erected a dressing tent near the shore. The camp has also purchased a Ford truck equipped with seats for errands and trips by the campers. As was the original plan when Camp Andover first started, its scope and the territory from which it draws its boys and girls is increasing from year to year. This year, the financial sponsorship of the camp has been taken over by the City Missionary Society of Boston, an organization of Boston Congregational churches, and the camp can draw from many Boston churches, instead of from a few, as was the case last year.

Rev. Frederick B. Withington, chaplain of Phillips Exeter Academy, is again in general charge of the camp. Mr. Withington was married, on June 17th, to Miss Margaret Winchester Adriance of Winchester, who was a councillor at the girls' camp last year. Mrs. Withington is assisting her husband with the camp work. Mr. Withington has as his assistants, Mr. Kimberly, of the Harvard Medical School, and Messrs. Davis and Warring, of Phillips Exeter Academy. Additions will be made to the staff when the large group of younger boys arrives next week.

Miss Esther Parker of Winchester will have charge of the girls' program for the last month. She will be assisted by Mrs. Withington, Miss Hinchcliffe and Miss Walker of Andover, and Miss Chase and Miss Wiggins of Boston. Miss Mary McCarthy, who was so successful last year, will again be chief of the chow, and will be assisted by Miss Anne Carroll, a teacher in the Newton Vocational school.

The boys at the camp are having a wonderful time, what with boating, swimming and the sports which they cannot enjoy in a sweltering city. Mr. Withington has secured the use of Brothers field every afternoon and the boys are there from 3.00 to 6.00, for baseball and track athletics. There is something doing every minute from 7.00 a.m. when the rising whistle is blown to 9.30 p.m., taps.

The camp program:

- 7.00 a.m. Rising whistle
- 7.10 Settling-up drill
- 7.30 Flag-raising
- 7.45 Breakfast
- 8.15 Squad duties
- 9.00 Password service
- 9.30 Tent police
- 9.45 Tent inspection
- 10.00 Instruction
- 11.00 Swim
- 12.30 p.m. Dinner
- 1.30 Rest hour
- 2.45 Recreation athletics
- 5.00 Dip
- 6.00 Flag lowering
- 6.15 Supper
- 8.00 Camp-fire
- 9.30 Taps

As was the case last year, the camp awards pins to boys establishing their proficiency along certain lines. For boys who were at the camp last year and who won a button the camp officials have laid down further requirements the satisfying of which gives the boys a Camp Andover pennant. The attainment point in each case is obtained by the successful carrying off of some "stunt," song and dance, acrobatic, or musical. The points required for pin and pennant follow:

POINTS FOR PIN

1. Swimming—40 yards.
2. Watermanship—Know parts of boat and how to row.
3. Nature—List 100 natural objects.
4. Athletic—
5. Campcraft—Pass test, build fire with one match.
6. Camp Service—4 hours.
7. First Aid—Pass test.
8. Councilors' Approval.
9. Entertainment Point.

POINTS FOR PENNANT

1. Aquatic—Swim 100 yards, swim 2 different strokes, form dive, life saving.
2. Nature—Identify 12 trees, 5 birds, 15 flowers, stars.
3. First aid—Pass advanced test.
4. Athletic—
5. Camp Service—4 hours.
6. Councilors' approval.
7. Entertainment Point.

The presence of the Malden Boy Scouts at the opposite end of the lake has made inter-camp competition possible. Camp Andover paved the way by challenging the scouts to a swimming meet on July 4th in which they were severely beaten by the score of 23 to 4, Andover's points coming from a second in the 40-yd. dash and a third in the 300-yd. swim, both won by the same boy.

The Scouts returned the compliment Tuesday and were in turn as severely squelched in a baseball game on Brothers field, which Andover won 16 to 4. Heads of both camps explained their respective defeats by the fact that the boys in the other camp were slightly older.

In the evening of the Fourth, Camp Andover entertained the Scouts with fireworks and a "feed." The Camp will be open to the inspection of visitors tomorrow, July 9th, when the first field day of the summer will be held.

Weddings

MERRILL—PAUL

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walter Paul of North Andover was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday evening, June 29th, when their daughter, Elizabeth Averill Paul, formerly a teacher in Rowley and Topsfield, was given in marriage to Warren H. Merrill of Georgetown.

To the familiar strains of Lohengrin, played by Alice Patterson of Somerville, the couple with their attendants, entered and advanced to an arch of mountain laurel with a background of hemlock. Here Rev. Emory L. Bradford of Boxford performed the ceremony, using the double-ring service.

The bride was attired in a handsome gown of white crepe de chine and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Her veil of tulle was caught up with lilies of the valley. She was attended by Dorothy Annable of Mason City, Iowa, and the groom by Francis Wade of Ipswich.

The maid of honor was gowned in apricot crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of daybreak pinks. The bridesmaids, Ruth Pitman of Salem, Edna Pfeiffer of Lawrence and Mary Hamelin and Lauretta Adams of Georgetown, wore dresses of jade green organdie and carried blush roses.

The house was handsomely decorated with roses and the staircase which the bridal party descended was trimmed with hemlock and white hydrangeas. After the ceremony a reception was held which was attended by a large number of guests from North Andover, Boxford, Georgetown, Rowley, Salem, Beverly and elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill left during the evening on their honeymoon and later will be at home to friends at their home on North street, Georgetown.

McGREGOR—STALL

Miss Mabel Ethel Stall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stall of Lockport, New York, was married to John McGregor of Andover, Mass., June 30th at 4.00 o'clock at the bride's home, by Rev. W. L. Hazen of the Methodist church.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Miriam Rood effectively rendered, "Oh Promise Me." At the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Stanley Morson, the bridal party approached, led by Evelyn Stall and Electa Tice, cousins of the bride, carrying baskets of roses which they strewed to the bridal altar. Both wore dainty white organdie frocks with pink sashes. Next followed Miss Edith Stall, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. She was gowned in pink georgette crepe over pink silk and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and sweet peas, tied with pink tulle.

Miss Bertha Stall, sister of the bride, came next as maid of honor. Her gown was white net over pink satin and she carried a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas tied with pink tulle.

The bride came next, charming in a gown of white georgette crepe over satin. Her tulle veil was arranged in Russian cap effect and wreathed with Gypsy fillet. She carried a bouquet of bride roses showered with white sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served for fifty guests. Covers were laid for twelve at the bride's table, which was centered with pink roses. The house was profusely decorated with pink and white roses, sweet peas and ferns.

The bride is a graduate of the Lockport High School and Buffalo State Normal School. The groom has been connected with the Thomas A. Edison Industries in East Orange, N. J., for the past four years.

The groom's gift to the bride was a necklace of pearls and to his best man, Harry Stall of Chicago, Ill., a Masonic watch charm. The bride presented bar pins to her attendants and gold lockets to the flower girls. Mr. and Mrs. McGregor left immediately after the ceremony for Cape Cod. Upon their return they will reside in West Orange, N. J.

DICK—MacARTHUR

On Saturday July second a pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Mary MacArthur, 1232 Faulkner St., Pittsburgh, Penn., uniting in marriage her daughter Edythe Madeleine to Mr. George Dick of Andover, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Kinley McMillan of the Sheridan Presbyterian Church, in the presence of the immediate family.

The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law Charles E. Flicker, wore a gown of champagne crepe de meteor and carried Ophelia roses.

The house was beautifully decorated in yellow daisies, snapdragons and ferns. After a wedding dinner the bride and groom departed for the East and will make their home in Andover.

No Pipeless Furnace Invades the East

If you wish to have your home heated comfortably and economically in the coldest weather—

You would like to enjoy the benefit of our Vapor System so that you would be protected against colds, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and other diseases.

Appreciate having the air in your home free from dust, lint, dirt, odors, and gases.

Ask for particulars about the Vapor Heating System.

Wm. Wis., writes

In my opinion one of the best features of your furnace is the vapor system. The air in our rooms is a good deal like that of a spring morning after a rain, and the vapor system removes the dust and dirt from the air so completely that dusting is a pleasure.

Celebrate the Fourth

The celebration of our great national holiday was successfully carried out on the fourth. The bonfire at midnight was well attended and the people enjoyed watching the flames for a long time.

The baseball contest between the married and single men was an added bit of fun, the old timers standing up very well against their opponents, though they lost 6 to 3. The line-up was as follows:

HERE AND THERE

Hot on the heels of the fight, comes a rush of words and opinions and vows, that prize-fighting is brutal, that it must be stopped, that it is inhuman and that the country has generally gone to the bow-wows if it allows such a relic of the gladiatorial days of barbaric Rome to exist in these times of civilization and prohibition.

Very pretty we grant you, but we wager, that as long as a promoter can pull a million dollar gate and arouse the interest of 80 or 90 million people in this country alone by bringing together a champion and a possible champion for a little mix-up called a prize-fight, there's going to be prize-fighting in this country.

We don't know who started the story that prize-fighting is a brutal game. It must have been somebody who never saw one. The worst thing about a prize fight is the conversation of the spectators. There is nothing more tiresome or boring in the category of human reaction.

Ellen Key says she believes there are more men led astray by pure than by impure.

Yes, yes, Ellen, go on; go on!

If it is to be left to us we credit the most humorous remark to Mr. Bryn. He says Admiral Sims talks too much.

The Royal Geographic Society's Mount Everest expedition estimates that at least a year will be required for the ascent. We trust there will be a hurry about it on our account. We don't know how you feel about it, but we can wait.

"For the sum of $3500 a year runs a new item. 'Miss Stewart' try to do for the youth of the country of both sexes between legal working age and twenty-one what their mothers and fathers really ought to do for them. Having no children of our own, we readily can believe that Miss Stewart, who assumedly, also is childless, can be trusted better to look after the children than their fathers and mothers.

But the point we make in the on-nection is that the job is too big for one frail woman. Looking after all of the children in this country is no sinecure. Miss Stewart should have an assistant.

Wise Beyond His Years

Some of the primary school books nowadays assume a sort of rebus form. A sentence may read: "I see three —" with a picture of three dogs to finish it. Animals and fowls are used in this way.

One evening recently a six-year-old youngster was lying on his stomach getting this lesson. One line read: "I see four —" followed by the picture of four chickens. Ronald read: "I see three hens and a rooster."

"Why, Ronald, that cannot be right," corrected his mother.

"Mumsey, dear, don't you think I know chickens when I see them?" protested the embryo farmer. "There are three hens and a rooster in that picture." The mother dropped her work and looked at the picture. Ronald was right.—Christian Science Monitor.

PUNCHARD SCHOOL ODE

AIR—"Fair Harvard."

I.
A band of glad school-mates, unclustered, and free
From delving the mine of the town,
Again, that unshackled our spirits may be,
We leave the bid gold to the groom.
'Tis good to rejoice when vacation returns
With gladness and frolicsome glee;
'Tis good to forget the stern duties of life,
While Youth still proclaims we are free.

II.
The spring-time of life is for joyance and mirth,
For blossom and sparkle and song!
The tree that, when young, gaily flaunts o'er its earth,
In time will grow stately and strong.
To gain its true grandeur and glory and might,
It stands cloud and darkness and storm,
Then claims a free gush from the fountain of light
Poured o'er it, enlivening and warm.

III.
While toiling and struggling in one common quest
Our hearts tie of friendship have twined;
And Union, the motto we wear on the breast,
Is traced on the heart and the mind.
And hence, that no damp on our spirits may fall,
While leaving these valleys below,
We look to the mountains, that echo the call
Of Higher! as higher we go.

IV.
Our dear Alma Mater, fair Punchard, all hail!
In faith, ever filial and true,
Our pledge of a love for thee never to fail,
Again hand in hand we renew;
To thee, in the spirit and light of the hour,
This oasis green of our way,—
All gemmed with bright stars of our hope-in-the-flower,
We bring a fresh garland to-day!

The singing of one stanza of the old Punchard Ode at the Punchard Alumni Banquet was very pleasing to many of the older alumni to whom it recalled pleasant memories of the days when they and their friends were school girls and school boys, and a request has come the entire ode might be printed in these columns.

The words were found on the back of an old program of the exercises of a "festival" of the Punchard Free School held on March 18, 1863. The program is certainly varied, but the length of it makes one marvel at the patience of the audience which sat through it to the end.

The first part of the program consisted of the recitation of thirty-seven stanzas of canto second of the Lady of the Lake by twenty different persons, many of them whose names are well remembered though the entertainment took place so long ago: Ella E. Abbott, Ellen T. Brown, Emma Chandler,
Ella J. Clarke, Frances A. Cowdery,
Kate A. Findley, Sarah M. Gile, Fannie
A. Hardy, Carrie E. Hervey, Annie O.
Higgins, Mary F. Hobbs, Mary E. Holt,
Sarah E. Holt, Alice Howard, Lydia
Kimball, Sarah E. Merrill, Katie M.
Newman, Mary S. Ross, Margaret E.
Smith and Laura S. Tenney.

The second part was more varied.
A declamation "Verres Denounced" (Cicero) by William H. Lemon, "Spartacus" by Otis Chickering and "Extracts from Everett's Oration delivered at Plymouth" by Albert McDonald and a demonstration of experiments in combustion were enlivened by music, an exhibition of calisthenics, and a pantomime "The Statuary of Praxiteles." Pantomimes were very much the fashion at that time and this one was said to be very funny.

A recess of twenty minutes prepared the audience for part three, with more declamations, "Uses of Astronomy" by Everett, given by James A. Holt;
"American Institutions, Edward W.
Packard, "Extract from Curran's Defense of Rowan" by Daniel Regan.
There was a dialogue from Bulwer's comedy of "Money" and a dialogue and tableau from "The Lady of the Lake"
and more calisthenics and more music.
Others names on the program were those of George H. Gutterston, Israel
Russell, Rebecca A. Newman, Carrie
E. Goldsmith, Ellen J. Abbott, Margie
B. Tenney, S. Augusta Abbott, Minnie
Russell, E. Winchester Donald, Fred
N. McLanathan, James T. Johnson,
George E. Towle, Albert McDonald,
Mary E. Gile, Mary E. Merrill, Martha
E. Ridley.

Chinese Railways.

Of 6,836 miles of railway in China in 1918, more than 4,000 miles of main and branch lines were owned and operated by the government, these comprising 14 railways in 14 out of the 18 provinces. In addition there were 11 provincial and private railways (some owned by mining companies) aggregating 425 miles and five concession lines aggregating near 2,300 miles.

been the development of Shawshen Village? Competent authorities agree the $3500 would have been a fancy price then, and the town would have been fortunate even in getting a purchaser, for the land had no prospective value.

It is entirely unnecessary to recount what Mr. Wood has already done in reconstruction work, in giving employment to hundreds of Andover citizens at high wages at a time when industry here is flat; and in furnishing the town fathers with assessable property, when they were at their wits' end to keep the tax rate from soaring to a point that would keep out desirable residents.

New streets have been built; sidewalks laid; sewers and water mains installed; bridges built; and other improvements made that have come out of the pocket of Mr. Wood, and cost the town of Andover practically nothing.

The man who made the land value increase is the head of the greatest woven industry in the world; and in a desire to do something for the town of which he is a citizen, undertook the building of a village, the plans for which would have made it unequalled by anything in the country.

A small but noisy group of obstruc-tionists—who may yet prove destructive—have opposed every move that Mr. Wood has made, and he has been compelled to fight for every small concession he has asked from the town.
Why? Because they are built on so small a scale, and so peyuanish in their idea that they cannot see beyond the ends of their noses. Unfortunately they have gotten others to see their viewpoint—the ends of their noses. It is also still more unfortunate that one member of the board has allowed his own personal affairs to enter into the matter, and has placed that before the interests of the town. To be specific, it is the Chairman of the Board. Andover cannot afford to let such a state of affairs continue if she expects men of brains and capital to develop any portion of the town.

There are scores of towns in New England that envy Andover in having such a citizen as Mr. Wood, and who would today welcome him with open arms and place everything at his disposal could they but have the chance for the development as is being done for Andover at Shawshen Village.

We have no quarrel with the purchaser of the land. He bought it under the conditions of the sale. One thing, however, is certain, he can never develop it as it was planned by Mr. Wood, and to the advantage of the town of Andover.

It is safe to say that the amount of money Mr. Wood has spent in Shawshen Village has brought to the town
a sufficient valuation to have reduced the tax rate at least $4.00 per $1000,
and there is no telling to what limit Mr. Wood might go in the building up of the northern part of the town, Shawshen Village.

How much longer can the sensible men of the town—the men with a clear vision—and after all in the final analysis they are in the majority—allow a small group of irreconcilables, together with a board of selectmen afraid of their criticism, to block the magnificent work of a citizen like Mr. Wood—who has done more to develop Andover materially in the last three years than any group of men have done in the last half century.

It does not seem possible that Andover would prefer to have a man spend his money on stone walls and keep himself in seclusion as did a citizen of a neighboring town, rather than have real constructive work such as is seen in the building of Shawshen Village.

Already there are murmurings among the citizens who can see ahead, and if the work of constructing Shawshen Village is to go on unimpeded, it will be well for these murmurings to crystallize into action, lest the town in grasping at the shadow may lose not only the bone but the meat as well.

A speaker at a recent town meeting said "The Town of Andover needs Mr.
Wood more than Mr. Wood needs Andover." How much does the town of Andover want Mr. Wood to go ahead with the work which, big as it looks now, is only in its infancy? It perhaps has not occurred to the obstructionists that the day may come when the new village may be in a position to dictate to the town what shall be done and what shall not be done.
No one desires such a state of affairs,
least of all the man who has made Shawshen Village possible. He wants to cooperate with his fellow citizens in building up Andover, but the cooperation must be mutual.

Very truly yours,

Waste in Wood Turning

The Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture recommends a more intelligent use of timber after it is grown. Forest conservation deals with the utilization of wood in the sawmill or factory, as well as with its production in the forest. There is just as much conservation in making twice as many ax handles out of the same amount of wood as there is in doubling the amount of wood grown on a particular area.

Investigations made by the Forest Service have shown that in logging and manufacturing an average tree but 33 per cent of its total volume, including limbs and bark, is actually realized as seasoned rough lumber. Taking rough lumber as the starting point, only 85 per cent of it reaches the final manufactured form in planing mills and sash and door factories; and but 75 per cent of it appears as finished parts in the manufacture of furniture and vehicles.
There is probably no wood-using industry in the United States in which there is a greater need of working out ways and means of saving raw material than the manufacture of turned products. In certain instances, 2 tons of hickory stock—a high grade material rapidly becoming scarce—yielded but 400 pounds of finished handles.

Painless Method of Paying Taxes

F. C. Ayres, Government director of the Savings Division, First Federal Reserve District, believes that people in this State will be glad to hear of an easy way to finance their Massachusetts income tax payments due in October and perhaps also adopt the same idea for taking care of Federal income taxes
as they fall due hereafter.

"Your State income tax must be paid in October," says Mr. Ayres, in calling attention to the matter, "and it is no small item. The Federal income tax is small by comparison because it may be taken care of in four installments—but the State tax must be settled in one payment and the time limit will expire in October. I have found it advantageous to prepare for it by investing a certain amount weekly or monthly in Savings Stamps of the maturity value of $5.00 each in 1926. They cost one $4.15 this month and increase in cost and redemption value one cent each month, so that in October one will have been getting a very fair rate of interest on his money and the stamps are redeemable practically on demand. This plan is a perfectly practicable one to work to prevent a heavy drain on a single month's income.

"In this way—if one will try it—I feel sure the income tax will almost take care of itself without becoming a burden.
Of course, most of the people who pay income taxes to the State and Nation feel that it is more or less of a hardship, while those who do not have enough income to make payments necessary and have to take the entire amount out of a single month's income. It can be made to work equally well as a method of easing off the Federal income tax payments, especially if started a year ahead as may be done. My advice is to 'Try it and see.'"
